

Raspberry Shawl

By Annie Baker

jumpercablesknitting.com

Raspberry is a small, triangular shawl with lots of drape. I've designed it to be wider so that it wraps easily around the shoulders. My shawl uses two strands of Indigo Moon Fingering Weight in Raspberry. You may also use an aran weight yarn. For a larger, heavier shawl, use a chunky weight yarn and 8mm needles. The finished measurements are approximate. My shawl measures approximately 55 inches across and 23 inches at the centre (after blocking). You may end up with a smaller or larger shawl depending on your gauge and choice of yarn and needles. Enjoy!

Materials

1,200 meters of fingering weight yarn (used double) or 600 meters of aran weight yarn (used single) 7 mm needles (best to use 32" or longer circulars)
1 stitch marker

Gauge

14 sts and 24 rows in stockinette stitch

Measurements

approximately 55" x 23" after blocking
