

Super Dooper Looper

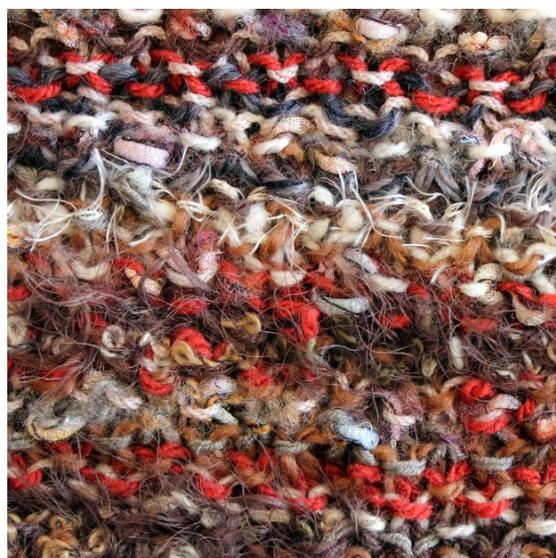

The Long Looped Scarf

*by Sharon Maher
laughing purple goldfish designs*

This stylishly simple scarf has been designed to make use of all your leftover yarns and partial skeins.

I love the way the knitted stitches weave the colours together. There are no clearly defined rows or stripes, but instead an overall meshing of colours - which is an excellent way to blend your scraps together.

This scarf can be looped twice around the neck for a loose casual look... or three times around for a more snug scarf on those chillier days.

Yarn Used

Assorted leftover yarns,
mostly 8 ply (DK)
130g/300m, 4.6oz/328yds

These amounts will vary depending on individual yarn choices.

Notions

6mm circular needles (US 10)

Wool needle

Finished Size

Circumference – 185 cm (73 in)

Width – 13 cm (5 in)

Gauge (tension)

For the sample, 11 sts and 27 rows measure 10 x 10 cm / 4 x 4 in, worked in seed stitch using 6mm needles.

Exact gauge is not important, but ideally your tension should be loose to allow greater drape in the finished project.

If necessary, change the hook size to suit your tension.

Abbreviations

Standard US abbreviations are used.

Pattern notes

The scarf is worked in the round on circular needles.

Colour changes will be worked at your own discretion. My recommendation is that you always change colours before you reach the end of a round, so that you never work one stitch on top of the other in the same yarn.

I have used a sneaky way of joining in new yarns, to avoid weaving in at the end of the project. I would suggest that the new colour is introduced approx. 10 sts before your colours overlap. Not all of your yarn scraps will be long enough to work an entire round with – so just add new colours as you need to (or want to).

Introduce your new colour before you finish with the old one. Work with the two yarns together for the next 6 – 8 stitches, then snip the old yarn and continue with the new one. That's it.
You've just woven in your ends!

When the project is finished, just snip off all those loose tails to around 3mm.
BUT NOT THE STARTING AND FINISHING TAILS. They will need to be woven in separately.

Because of the loose stitches in this scarf, the odd tail might slip out. They do keep in place better when your gauge is tighter. But don't stress it! Just leave them out – or poke them back into place with your fingertip. Life's too short to stress about that stuff...

Alternately, you can always use a traditional method and sew in all your ends.

PATTERN BEGINS

Please be sure to read the Pattern Notes on p2 before you begin. These notes explain how and when to make the colour changes.

Start	Use 6mm (US 10) circular needles to loosely cast on 203 sts.
Round 1	K1, * P1, K1; repeat from * around.
Round 2	P1, * K1, P1; repeat from * around.
Repeat	Repeat Rounds 1 & 2 until the piece measures 13 cm (5 inches) – approx 36 rounds.
TIP	You actually don't need to keep track of the beginning or end of each round. Just continue to K1, P1 throughout the project – no tracking needed.
Cast off	Cast off loosely in pattern.
Finish off	Weave in the starting and finishing ends. Snip other ends to 3mm.

experiment

Don't limit your colour palette to similar colours like I have!
Mix all sorts of odds and sods in there for a more eclectic look...

Throw in the occasional novelty yarn...

If you want a really scrappy look to your work:
leave those loose tails at about 25 – 50mm (1 – 2 inches) and make them a feature.

Instead of a scarf, why not use this method to make a blanket?
Add some extra stitches, and work flat instead of in the round.
I'm desperate to try it out one day!

How about a MAGIC KNOT???

Ever heard of it?

It's a very clever method of joining two scraps of yarn,
where the ends can be trimmed away
and the knot does not come undone.
